

AFTER A FIELD TRIP, DO YOU WANT YOUR STUDENTS TO SAY THIS...OR THIS?

“Now I know different people’s perspective on situations such as name-calling and discrimination. I can stand up for myself and others easier when I now know how much it hurts.”

– Alberto, Trenton 8th grader

OR THIS...?

“Each exhibit shows why not to treat people bad or tease. So I stopped teasing people; that was a good lesson. When people tease me, I feel the same way. The shredder machine shredded all my bad feelings and I felt much better. I feel good as new.”

OR THIS...?

“I learned how to make yourself feel good and to always do the right things no matter what your friends tell you. Thank you for the amazing lesson.”

OR THIS...?

“The best station was the one when you had to make up something to say when someone was mean to you. After this trip, I will act different to everyone. I have to treat everyone the way I want to be treated. No one wants to be treated badly. Not me, would you want to?”

OR THIS...?

“It affected me a lot because all my life I have had problems with people making fun of me for many reasons. And now I know that there are other people out there that are dealing with what I deal with. I don’t feel so alone. Also I know we can all stick together, and be a family and stop stereotyping, and racial comments, etc.”

Teachers / Guidance Counselors / Educators: Do you want to take your students on a field trip that will make a lasting impression on them? A visit to the Kidsbridge Tolerance Museum is such a place. Please take note of these testimonials & quotes and share this document with your principal, guidance counselor and/or PTA and educational foundation. It will help you get funded. “The real measure of a successful field trip is epiphanies, transformations and improvements in empathy and stereotype knowledge. This is what Kidsbridge promises; the mark of a Kidsbridge field trip is the learning of life lessons that will stay with your students for a lifetime.”
